An act to have car checks on the borders of Austria

Be it hereby enacted by the General Assembly of the United Nations

Justification Clause: Austria is one of many independent countries in the European Union. To get into all of these countries you only need one passport. This is a great idea but it is also flawed. Passing into a different country in the European Union is like passing into Indiana from Kentucky. Therefore it is extremely easy to bring illegal drugs and trafficked humans into the country as well as illegal immigrants and refugees. There is one easy solution. We would like to add security. In order to do this we will need to build security stations on Austria's border. The actual procedure will be simple. The employees will undergo police training before they start their job. On duty the security employees will check to make sure that people crossing the border have a valid passport. They will also inspect luggage and cars. Kind of like going through security at an airport. This will not only prevent human trafficking, illegal immigrants, and illegal drugs, but will also create jobs and help the economy. We hope you agree with with us on this way to solve the issue.

Section I: We would like to add thorough security inspections during the passing into the borders of Austria. The inspections will be free of charge.

Section II: If a person is caught breaking the law that person will be put under arrest. If a foreigner is caught breaking the law that person will be put under arrest and sent back to their country of current citizenship.

Section III: funding for this will come from the United Nations and if more money is needed taxes will be placed.

Section VI: This bill will be enacted 2 years after passing so money can be allocated, stations can be built, and the employees can be trained .
