The General Assembly,

Having considered that Afghanistan has most recently been engulfed in warfare since 2001, this warfare has destroyed important infrastructure including schools and farms, which has lowered the quality of life for almost all of Afghanistan. Now that the war is over, Afghanistan's coffers have run dry. In Afghanistan, over 10 million youth and adults are illiterate. The people of a country must be literate to make informed decisions, or they will be dominated by the rich and educated upper classes. The Afghan government is trying to become a working government, and possibly with the construction and staffing of proper school houses, the education system could become more effective at securing a literate populace.

Deeply concerning is that this problem is paired with the emergency of basic sanitation, according to USaid.com, only 42 percent of Afghans have access to clean drinking water and only 27 percent have access to proper sanitation facilities. With the construction of wells, the Afghan people would be healthier and stronger. The water most Afghans have access to is largely unclean.

According to WorldVision.org, 133 Afghan children die every day from tainted water.

Additionally, according to britannica, only half of the arable land in Afghanistan is cultivated annually and of this land, only half of it is properly irrigated. This farming situation causes the food output of Afghanistan to drop significantly, forcing Afghanistan to import 26% of its food. The government of Afghanistan doesn't have the funds to rebuild this important infrastructure. Without outside support, the nation of Afghanistan is doomed to suffer for a war it did not declare. The UN must come to our aid or more will suffer and die.

To solve these problems, we propose to receive around 1000 foreign service officers and any volunteers from UN nations to Afghanistan to build important infrastructure, important infrastructure being as school buildings, wells, and state farms.

We suggest this effort be funded by 200 million dollars of UN money. Guided by the United Nations we can help Afghanistan become a great thriving country.

The following requests proclaim that the efforts will go a long way in improving the literacy rate in Afghanistan; our goal is to help all Afghan people by building school houses, and providing teachers to help the next generation of Afghans.

This resolutions declares accordingly that we would like to send around 700 of the 1000 foreign service officers to help build schools and any volunteers to help teach the children of Afghanistan how to read. Any fair government is based on a literate and informed population. With a proper school system in place, this resolution seeks that Afghans will become more involved in the government, putting the nation on a path towards stability.

The General Assembly,

Alarmed by a study conducted by the Proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences stating that the Great Barrier Reef has lost one third of its coral cover in the last thirty years,

Considering that studies at the ARC Centre of Excellence for Coral Reef Studies at James Cook University have determined that coral eats micro plastics,

And taking into account that it is predicted that the amount of plastic in the Asia-Pacific region of the ocean is going to increase by forty percent through 2025, which is equal to about 15.7 billion plastic items stuck on coral reefs,

To put an end to this rapidly evolving situation:

1. We call upon the United Nations to have nations agree to limit the creation of single use plastic items by 2025.
2. Offer incentives to companies that agree to switch to producing reusable and compostable shopping bags.
3. Encourage member nations to implement educational opportunities about recycling programs and alternatives to single use plastics.
4. Request funding from the United Nations Environment Program to assist in operations that include ocean and beach cleanup.

The General Assembly,

Noting with deep concern that women abuse and gender-based violence stands as an increasingly dangerous issue.

Recognizing that women abuse and gender-based violence affects 56.4% of women in Cameroon (in a 2019 study).

Recognizing, IPV (intimate partner violence) stands as a great threat to women in Cameroon.

Noting further, population based surveys show an extremely high level of IPV.

Emphasizing that the amount of shelters already in place for women abuse and gender-based violence is not substantial for the amount of residents affected by this issue.

1. Calls upon the Cameroon government for funding to create shelters that will ultimately impact and benefit the women of Cameroon suffering from gender-based violence.
2. Requests approval to approve a counseling and life-training center to support the women who are mentally affected by these events.

9
10 Reaffirming that everyone has the right to a standard of living adequate for the health and well-being of themselves

1 A Resolution to Improve Conditions for Children Who Are Homeless

2
3 The General Assembly,

4
5 Recognizing that, homelessness is a growing problem among youth in Ireland and around the world, and that
6 it leads to crime, drug use, and school dropouts.

7
8 Deeply concerned, the UN-Habitat reported an “alarming” increase in homelessness in the past decade with 9 young people around the world being at the highest risk of becoming homeless.

11 Noting that, the Convention on the Rights of the Child, General Comment No. 21 (2017), found there is an 12 absence of data on the number of youth who are experiencing homelessness and that the lack of data has 13 resulted in a lack of good housing solutions in Ireland and globally.

15 Bearing in mind that target 11.1 of the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals is to ensure access 16 for all to adequate, safe and affordable housing and to identify persons experiencing homelessness to 17 develop successful policies to combat homelessness so that no one will be left behind.

18
19 1. Seeking, consensus among member nations to conduct a national count of children who are 20 homeless.

21
22 2. Calls upon, member nations to adopt Housing First policies that would place youth (and if

- 1 A Call to Awareness to the Effects of Global Warming on Venice, Italy
2
3 The General Assembly,
4
5 Alarmed by the prospect of Venice, Italy being completely submerged under water by the year 2100 due to 6 its sinking of 2 millimeters per year,
7
8 Noting further that Venice, Italy was inscribed on the UNESCO World Heritage Site in the year 1987,
9
10 Deeply concerned that the effects of extreme climate change has made flooding even more prevalent and 11 threatening among its many unique historical and archaeological sites, 12
13 Keeping in mind the Italian government has funded over 6 billion euro for a barrier system to protect the city
14 from large waves to some limited success,
15
16 Fully aware of the fact that 26,000 people have lost homes and businesses causing over 545 million dollars
17 in damages,
18
19 1. Calls upon the UN to help fund the building of improved seawalls around the city to protect Venice
20 from flooding in hopes that the seawalls will redirect the harmful energy back towards the ocean;
21
22 2. Further recommending that surrounding countries move away from fossil fuels and invest in more
23 renewable energy so that the climate effects in Italy lower to help Venice’s rising water levels to 24 significantly decrease;
25
26 3. Further request s the UN to assist in the funding for the pumping of liquid cement under the city
27 to raise it up so that it will delay the flooding of Italy.

The General Assembly,

Deeply disturbed that the children of Jamaica, which make up 33% of their population, are mistreated on a daily basis with yet a shy eye of attention.

Recognizing that the futures of children around the world will be negatively impacted by the treatment and conditions they endure from a young age.

Recalling the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child, specifically Articles 24 and 27, the poverty of children all over the world violates the safety, healthcare, and necessities that this article promises.

1. Encourages the governments to help support minors and children, so that they are no longer forgotten.
2. Seeking more safety for minors and children who are being affected by disorderly conduct.
3. Expresses its hope to create more security and peace towards children facing these problems by allocating at least 5% of each nation’s budget toward the safety, necessities, and education of children and youth to further develop their lives.

1 A resolution to require randomized bi-annual prison inspections to improve quality of living conditions in
2 Southeast Asian Countries.

3
4 The General Assembly,
5

6 Recalling that the Laos 2020 Human Rights Report from the US Embassy, "Prison cells were crowded with 7 no beds wider than 20 inches. Some prisons reported holding juveniles with adults." Due to the high numbers
8 of occupants in prisons, including those of juvenile age, the prison living conditions is a major issue in 9 Southeastern Asian Countries.

11 Convinced that the max occupancies in prisons across Southeast Asia are exceeding their intended
12 capacities by nearly 40%, causing many of the issues within prisons. There have also been many accounts of 13 torture, cruel, inhuman, or degrading treatment and punishment.

15 Observing that here will be no additional funding needed due to the fact that the Third Committee is 16 responsible for social, humanitarian, and cultural issues, including but not limited to: the advancement of 17 women, the protection of children, indigenous issues, the treatment of refugees, the promotion of 18 fundamental freedoms through the elimination of racism and racial discrimination, and the right to self-
19 determination. As this falls under these duties of the Third Committee, this will only be an additional 20 responsibility.

22 1. This resolution calls upon the United Nations General Assembly: Third Committee to take on the 23 responsibility of monitoring prison systems in the Southeast Asian Countries;

24
25 2. Recommends The Third Committee will create a set of regulations that will be inspected bi-
26 annually, at random dates. Prisons will be required to meet 80% satisfactory to pass inspection;

27
28 3. Proclaiming this resolution passes, it will go into effect a year after it has passed;

29
30 4. Notes, failure to comply with the regulations set forth by this proposal will result in a probationary
31 period with monthly random regulation checks, as well as the prison being fined. 1st offense: 2
32 month probationary period and $2,000 fine. For every offense thereafter the probationary period
33 will be increased by 2 months and the fine increased by $2,000 each time.

1

3 The General Assembly,
4

6
7 Having considered poor countries struggling from hunger and poor farming,
8
9 Fully aware that crops are not surviving as a result of natural disasters such as droughts cyclones and

11
12 Realizing the poorer farmers have ineffective education on farming techniques,
13
14 Keeping in mind that the right to food and education is one of the main purposes of the United Nations,

A Call to Awareness On The Polluted Water Courses in Scotland

1
2
3 The General Assembly,
4
5 Taking note of Scotland’s attempt to improve their water courses to increase water quality affected by pollutants which 6 negatively affects people’s health,
7
8 Bearing in mind that water courses are any natural or artificial channels above or below ground through which water flows
9 such as rivers, creeks, brooks, streams, etc. which supply communities with potable water,
10
11 Conscious that Global Warming causes water temperatures to rise, which can kill water-dwelling animals resulting in further
12 pollution of the water supply,
13
14 Deeply convinced that Scotland’s polluted water courses are a direct result of the harmful effects of Global Warming and not
15 just a localized issue of our country,
16
17 Keeping in mind that the Paris Agreement on Climate Change stipulated that every 5 years a review would be conducted to 18 evaluate the effectiveness of the efforts implemented to decrease the harmful effects of Global warming and climate change,
19
20 Fully aware that the Declaration of Human Rights Article 2 states everyone has the right to a standard of living adequate for 21 the health and well-being of himself and his family,
22
23 Recognizing that SEPA (the Scottish Environmental Protection Agency) and the citizens of Scotland have made strong efforts
24 to improve the water quality of their water courses by regulating emissions, controlling waste management, regulating
25 installations using radioactive materials, regulating discharges into the rivers, lochs, estuaries, and coastal waters,
26
27 Convinced that citizens of the world must make stronger efforts to curtail Global warming and the negative impact of climate
28 change as stated by the former President France, Francois Hollande, “We have a single mission to protect and hand on the 29 planet to the next generation,”
30
31 1. Proclaims that the member countries of the U.N. stop using greenhouse gases and replace them with renewable 32 energy sources such as solar energy on a larger scale than at present;
33
34 2. Urges the U.N. member nations to immediately stop the use of fossil fuels to curtail the rising temperatures of the 35 atmosphere that are causing harmful flooding of the Scottish shorelines;
36
37 3. Requests that the U.N. creates a substantial compulsory fine to impose upon on countries that do not meet the 38 regulated standards set forth in the Paris Agreement;

1 A Resolution to Promote the Proper Management of Pesticide Use in Thailand with the Aid of Conservation Buffers
2
3 The General Assembly,
4
5 Seeing that 43.28% of Thailand’s landmass is dedicated to agricultural endeavors, and that this country has become
6 one of the world’s top exporters of agricultural products, earning approximately 8 billion in revenue every year since 7 2018,
8
9 Further noting that almost 40% of Thai people work in the farming industry, and almost 70% of Thai people live in rural 10 farming communities,
11
12 Deeply concerned that farming practices in Thailand and surrounding countries include the unsafe and poorly regulated
13 use of pesticides which contributes to health, wildlife, and marine life concerns,
14
15 Alarmed by research that shows that 33% - 40% of Thailand’s coastal waters were tested as “poor” or “very poor”
16 quality,
17
18 Recognizing that pesticide pollution from agricultural runoff in water is a global concern, and at the same time,
19 agriculture is a necessary part of providing food for the world,
20
21 Bearing in mind that Thailand, Indonesia, and Vietnam produce 73% of all of the rice in the world, which is a staple in 22 most cultures’ diets,
23
24 Fully aware that pesticide usage is likely even higher than the reported numbers, due to many farms being informal
25 family farming operations,
26
27 Determined to promote healthy farming practices, clean water, strong economies, and preservation of wildlife,
28
29 We call upon the UN to:
30 1. Encourage increased monitoring and regulation of pesticide use in Southeast Asia.
31
32 2. Provide funding for educating farmers regarding safe pesticide use.
33
34 3. Promote the use of conservation buffers which are small strips of land with vegetation to control pollutants

Convention of the Legal Protection For Persons Displaced By Climate Change

The General Assembly,

Deeply concerned about the displacement of persons of Member States due to the impacts of climate change, especially small countries such as Tuvalu, only three meters above sea level,

Recalling that rising sea levels result in flooding, rising saltwater tables, the destruction of deep-rooted food crops, increased illness/disease, the loss of income, as declared in the Intergovernmental Panel of Climate Change,

Bearing in mind that there is a growing number of people being displaced due to the 1.5 Celsius rise in temperature resulting in numerous environmental negative impacts, in fact, the number has doubled in the past four decades,

Recognizing the outcomes of the World Humanitarian Summit held in Turkey in May 2016,

Noting the positive contribution that the Sustainable Development Goals can make and the efforts made to improve the economic growth of affected populations,

Reaffirming that all persons who are displaced and economically impacted by the effects of climate change have the right to freedom of movement and residence,

Having considered that the States have the responsibility to provide the protection of human rights, focusing especially on those negatively affected by disease, displacement, and loss of livelihood,

Appreciating the adoption of the Global Compact for Safe, Orderly and Regular Migration, the Warsaw International Mechanism on Loss and Damage, and the Status of Refugees and 1967 Protocol,

Yet noting with concern that persons displaced and affected by climate change are not afforded the same protection under international law as refugees,

Encouraging Member States to address the humanitarian needs that arise due to displacement from climate change, by developing national laws and policies in line with the Guiding Principles on Internal Displacement and the Framework on Durable Solutions for Internally Displaced Persons of the Inter-Agency Standing Committee,

1. Calls upon the International Donor Community to provide materials and financial assistance for the implementation of programs that benefit displaced persons and communities,
2. Requests the development of a legally binding document to protect those impacted by climate change,
3. Recommends that the Secretary-General submits a comprehensive report on progress made to the General Assembly.

A Proposal to Send Peacekeepers to Venezuela

1
2
3 The General Assembly,
4
5 Deeply concerned that many Venezuelans are leaving the country, which is affecting the United Nations because
6 when natives leave Venezuela, many are fleeing to Columbia, Peru, Bolivia, Chile, and the United States,
7
8 Convinced by the United Nations and humanitarian partners, we launched the 2021 Venezuela Humanitarian
9 Response Plan. This plan is aimed to assist 4.5 million Venezuelan people. In all United Nations will aid 1.79 billion
10 dollars to Venezuela,
11
12 Bearing in mind withholding the human rights of our citizens is a violation of the UN Charter.
13
14 Concerned that 5.4 million people have fled Venezuela due to instability and lack of resources. Venezuela is 15 experiencing inflation which is causing a severe lack of healthcare, difficulty obtaining life’s basic needs, and 16 receiving medicines for our citizens,
17
18 Recognising that the United Nations Assembly works jointly with Venezuela to protect and strengthen our human 19 rights.
20
21 1. Calls upon the UN Agencies to commence peace between the citizens and the government.
22 Peacekeepers will be provided to mediate an agreement that meets the needs of the citizens and works
23 together for a more unified, functional nation.
24
25 2. Encouraging actions that the UN Agencies will take action to send peacekeepers to the country and 26 protect our citizens from a hostile environment. They will be tasked with calming the violence and 27 mistreatment of citizens,
28
29 3. Further, resolve the actions will be taken throughout Venezuela and will be needed in prisons. The 30 actions should take place as soon as possible because the citizens have been denied human rights since 31 2014.
32
33 4. Declares accordingly for action to be taken in Venezuela for the UN to send peacekeepers to calm the 34 internal struggles and attempt to stabilize our country.

Deeply disturbed that young females (12-13) in Yemen are forced into marriage and conception as a means for families to survive,
