

Security Council Relationships Chart

Teams should use this guide pre-conference to determine which countries will likely be supportive or combative to their position on the three international issues: Internal Conflicts: Civil Wars and Beyond, Military Overreach, and Women, Peace, and Security. This is an example method to map country relations and teams are encouraged to use the best method for them

Guide Usage:

1. Brief summary of your position in the first row under "Internal Conflict," "Military Overreach." And "Women, Peace, and Security"
2. Brief summary of other country's positions in the left column of every issue. Include important notes including "non-negotiables" (positions that are completely off the table), "emotional subjects" (things likely to elicit an emotional response), and top policy priorities.
3. Indicate whether your policy goals align with that country in the right column of every issue. Use the system that works best for your team! (Used below: S=Support, N=Neutral, O=Oppose)

Example Country	Involved in Civil War; anti-UN involvement in Civil Wars	N	Believes the UN should intervene in humanitarian crises	O	Recognizes women's rights domestically	S
